NURSING PHARMACOLOGY

ABOUT THE COURSE

We are currently developing five Nursing OER textbooks with CC 4.0 licensing. The first Nursing Pharmacology book will be published in Pressbooks in June 2020. The remaining four OER Nursing books will be published by 2023. The textbooks are based on the Wisconsin Technical College System's statewide nursing curriculum, and are aligned with the 2019 NCLEX Test Plan as an external standard. We currently have nursing faculty from across the state of Wisconsin working on the project, as well as reviewers lined up from across the country to begin reviewing the Pharmacology book in February 2020.

SUMMARY REPORT

The online course Nursing Pharmacology provided SYBSC and TYBSC students with a strong foundation in human anatomy, physiology, and related systems. The course facilitator Prof. Mahesh Deshmukh skillfully coordinated the online learning experience, ensuring students gained a comprehensive understanding of the human body.

The "Nursing Pharmacology" course equipped the students with a crucial skillset that bridges the gap between academics and personal development. By actively applying these learned skills in their studies and daily lives, students were better prepared to deal with the challenges during the period of Covid - 19

Introduction

Target audience: Nursing students

Learning objectives: This book introduces the principles of pharmacology to entry-level nursing students. It includes drug classifications and their effects on the body, with an emphasis on the use of the nursing process to safely administer medications.

Related UNESCO Sustainable Development Goals:

- Good Health and Well-being
- Quality Education

Motivation: To promote equity and student success in a challenging course by providing accessibility to a free, high-quality textbook the first day of class.

Goals of the project: Decreased rates of student withdrawal or unsuccessful completion of the course, especially for at-risk students.
